Welcome to Idell Preserve

Idell Preserve, a 57-acre property owned by Hunterdon Land Trust, is located within the Delaware River Watershed. This preserve contains forested wetlands and seasonal vernal pools, crucial habitats for native reptiles and amphibians.

As you explore the preserve, you will see old growth trees, young deciduous forests, and former pine stands. Spicebush, mayapple, and jack-in-the-pulpit can be found along the trail. These forests support a diversity of woodpeckers, owls, and hawks - so don't forget to look up!

Hunterdon Land Trust is proud to steward Idell Preserve to enhance water quality, wildlife habitat, and public enjoyment.
